The 2012 hurricane season begins on June 1st. A little preparation now will save time and reduce stress later. Develop, review or update your family emergency plan. Assemble or restock your disaster supply kit. Resolve to be ready for whatever the season may bring. For more information go to www.msema.org .